Harry Ainlay students show the Titan spirit.

"Big schools have big hearts."

I was walking down the the hall, and you know what I did see? I saw 2,300 other faces smiling at me. This hall I was walking down was the hall of the Ainlay Titans. The walls displayed faces of students from the past and I knew that forever their memories would last.

People Helping People

Harry Ainlay may be big, but everywhere you look, there is always someone ready and willing to lend a helping hand. Registration would not be possible if it were not for the active help of students. Students' union spends countless hours organizing activities that benefit the entire school. Major athletic events such as TVT and the Tri-Provincial basketball tournament occur because of the dedicated efforts of students and staff. Numerous club and athletic activities require the leadership of staff sponsors. The music department extends their talents out into the community. The drama department puts on many top performances. Harry Ainlay is "people power." It is people helping people that results in memories that last forever.

At the game

Harry Ainlay is fortunate to have a large variety of athletic events throughout the year. Football, basketball, volleyball and swimming are but a few examples of team efforts. The dedication of coaches, players and spectators makes being part of a Titan team all worth while, and creates memories that will last forever.

Memories are forever.

CULTY AFY

Principal's Message:

Yearbooks provide many fond memories for all of us. The yearbook staff is to be commended for their efforts in producing this fine book. As you leaf through this book, over the years, it would be my hope that your memories of Harry Ainlay are filled with a sense of pride and satisfaction in knowing that you and those with whom you worked did the best job possible.

Good luck to each and every one of you.

Ms. D. Wilson

Mr. McCaughan

Working with young adults is a rewarding and challenging experience. Their honesty, enthusiasm, energy, ambition, along with a keen sense of humour help to keep us young in spirit!

Helping in the scholastic preparation for an unpredictable future is a very special and a very serious responsibility. The ability of students to function effectively in a dynamic society in which accessing, communicating and using information is of primary importance. I am fortunate to have excellent resources in the school where I can counsel students to access the core and complementary courses which help them develop and cultivate their unique talents, interests, and abilities. I hope that the graduating students are prepared to make a successful transition to post secondary or work environments.

To graduates, I wish you health and happiness in your future!

Vice Principals' Messages:

Mr. Jaques

In this final year that I will be associated with Harry Ainlay, I have to admit that I'll be leaving with mixed emotions. It has been my good fortune to have spent six years at a school, which has set a standard of excellence for others to follow. The outstanding results of Ainlay students makes me proud to be a part of the "team."

Mr. Sande

I have been fortunate in my life to spend 33 years among some very fine students and teacher colleagues. Eight of these years have been at Harry Ainlay which I believe is one of the best anywhere. It has been a privilege to work with you.

Farewell to Mr. Jaques and Mr. Sande

Mr. Jaques and Mr. Sande have collectively dedicated 69 years to the Edmonton Public School system. Their leadership has been an inspiration to staff and students alike. Mr. Jaques has a keen interest in sailing, skiing, cycling, fishing and travelling. His parting words of wisdom are "Work is for people who don't know how to sail!" Mr. Sande will pass Mr. Jaques in his motor boat.

From this point on, questions answered by staff and faculty members will appear in varies places throughout the yearbook. Due to time concerns I was unable to visit all of the staff members, and for this we are sorry, however for those who were able to contribute your time and cooperation were greatly appreciated. Thank you.

Julie Wang

Q: What kind of talk (GOSSIP!) goes on in the faculty lounge?

Dr. Micthner (History teacher): "We have a faculty lounge?"

Mr. Holzer (Physics teacher): "Politics and jokes, usually with a double meaning."

Good Bye to Rose

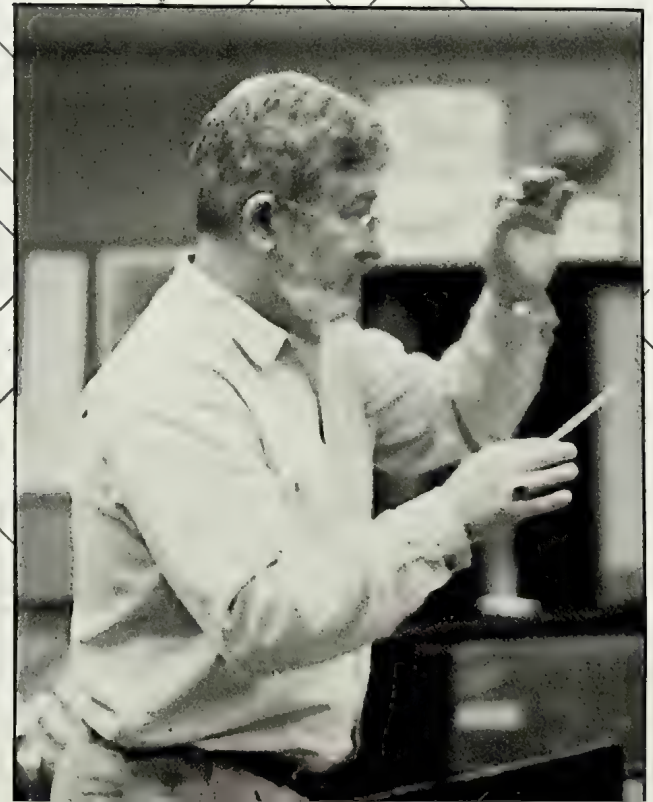

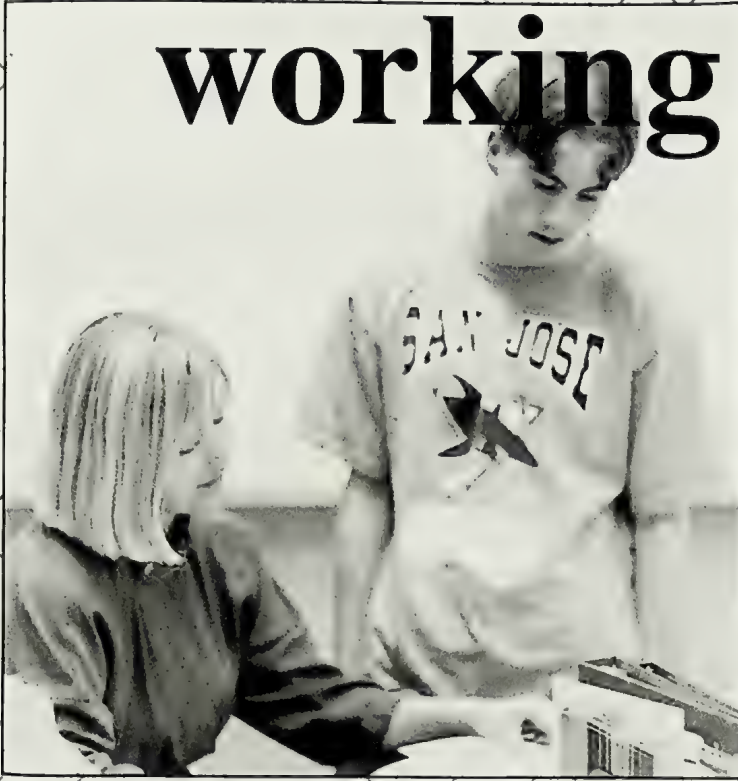

Our Rose

A rose has bloomed for twenty odd years
In the heart of Harry Ainlay.
With infinite grace, and a smiling face,
Our Rose has been here daily.
To some she is "Rosie", to others "Mrs. D.",
To all her affection is given for free.
Never thorny or sharp,
Always does more than her part;
Our Rose from the heart of Harry Ainlay.
In June she's leaving us to fate,
With retirement she has set the date.
It goes without saying, our hearts will be sad
But a least, one last Christmas we've had.
Please join us in saying
"Merry Christmas" to our Rose.

Christmas luncheon.*

Activities

Harry Ainlay ... more

Students' Union

Under the leadership of Mr. G. Olsen, the students' council organized countless activities through the year to make each day at Harry Ainlay just a little more exciting and memorable.

The year started with an outdoor barbeque, live entertainment, provided by Tropical Fever, and great student dancing. The radiance and ongoing dedication of Kerri Bothwell, student council president, resulted in an unforgettable Ainlay year!

than just classrooms!

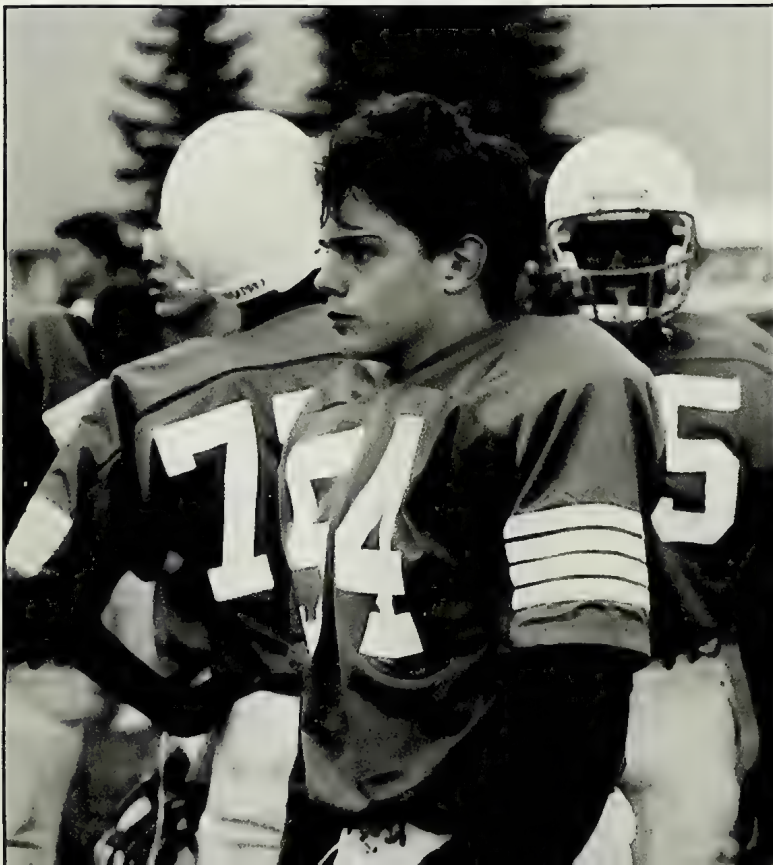

On December 9, 1993, students assembled in the large gymnasium and were enlightened by a group called PARTY which stands for "Prevent Alcohol and Risk Related Trauma in Youth."

Ms. Susie Coen, R.N. gave the presentation. With the use of very vivid pictures taken at crash scenes and her own personal commentary, the message was clear; "Don't drink and drive!" The presentation helped students to understand:

- alcohol
- alcohol's effect on the body
- alcohol's effect on driving skills
- the importance of seat belts
- the consequences of driving while intoxicated
- the impact of living the rest of your life as an accident victim.

The presentation is sponsored by the Misericordia Hospital. Students left with the clear understanding that if drinking occurs at a party, a designated driver should be identified. Another alternative suggested was to call a cab or parent for a ride.

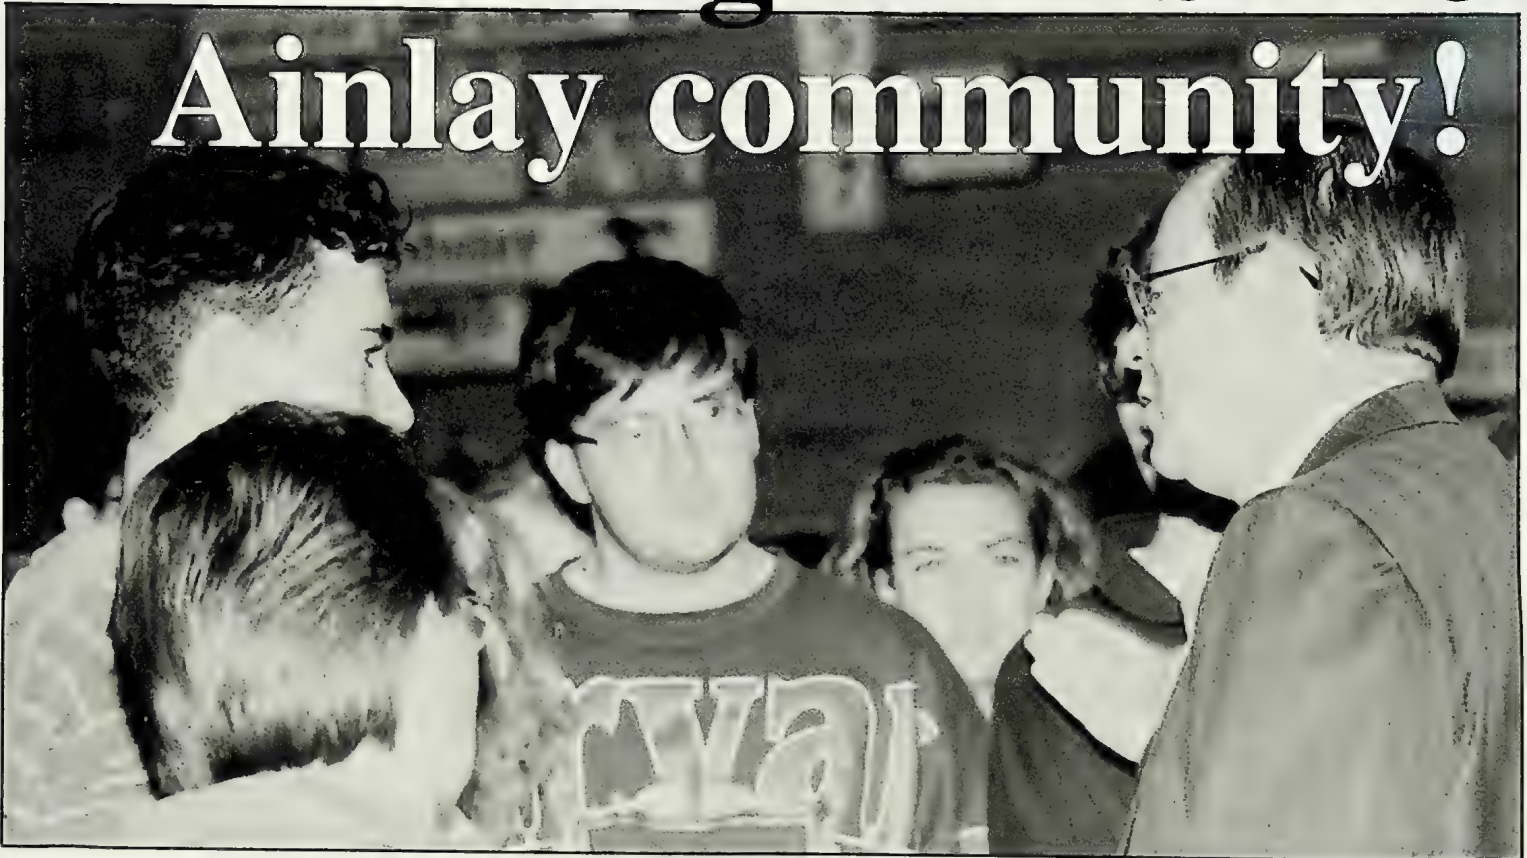

Athletics at Harry Ainlay

Harry Ainlay has a very active athletic program. Throughout the year students can participate either directly or as a fan in such sports as volleyball, football, swimming, soccer, basketball. Ainlay hosting of basketball and volleyball tournaments bring in teams and spectators from all across western Canada.

Alberta education budget cuts rile

Ainlay community!

Minister of Education invited to Harry Ainlay

In early November, Halvar Jonson, Minister of Education, was invited to Harry Ainlay. Students assembled in the large gymnasium and had an opportunity to listen to opening remarks by the minister after which members in the audience were invited to present questions. In the photo to the right, Cheryl Beattie, a grade 10 student, speaks at the microphone. Students, teachers, parents and general members of the community were present.

Mr. Jonson announced that the province planned to cut education funding by $239 million through 1996-97. For public schools, such restrictions translate into cuts of approximately nine percent. Mr. Johnson explained that because of the ever increasing deficit each year, the provincial debt had grown to levels which were unacceptable. Costs associated with servicing the debt resulted in fewer funds being available for expenses in program areas.

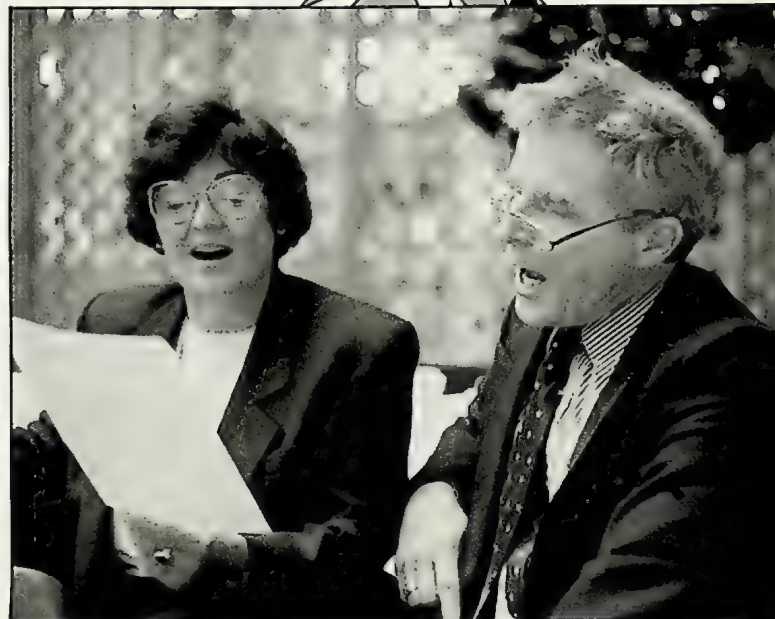

Not only would education be affected, but also such areas as hospitals and provincial liquor stores.

Christmas...

a time to put work and worries aside.

During December staff and students had an opportunity to forget about homework and budgets. Julie Wang is wearing Santa's cap. Mr. McNab and Ms. Clark sing carols while Mr. Agrell-Smith enjoys a noon meal. Santa Claus also made an appearance. Some claim that Mr. G. Nicholson was also seen in the building.

Concert Band
 "one hundred strong..."

One hundred of Harry Ainlay's fine musicians made up this year's Concert Band. They performed in festivals and concerts in Red Deer, Sherwood Park and within the city. Many of the musicians were also members of the Seattle Tour Concert Band.

Battle of the bands

Last year the 1st annual "Battle of the Bands" was held in the school auditorium. The "Battle" was created to provide an opportunity for high school bands to play in front of their peers. Seven bands competed for the '93 title with "The Soul Chefs" taking first place honours.

The 2nd Annual Battle of the Bands was held March 3 of this year. With Axe Music providing the sound, and The Bear 100.3 FM m.c.ing, eight rock bands playing material ranging from blues to alternative to heavy metal to jazz competed for over $1000 in cash and prizes. The trophy, along with a recording package from Wolf Willow Studios, went to first place winners Blue Velvet Headboard. The Wayward Bus placed second. Special thanks are extended to the organizing committee (Tabytha Dwziniel, Crystal Jorundson and Joan Lewis) and staff sponsor Mr. Holt.

President's Message

Kerri Bothwell, now and then! Thanks for the memories.

It is hard to believe that the time has come to leave the familiar halls of Harry Ainlay and venture into the unknown. It feels like only yesterday we entered high school as small grade ten students, dazed and confused. With each new year, we have learned about ourselves, society and the changing world around us. This, most of all, is what we will carry with us in to all eternity.

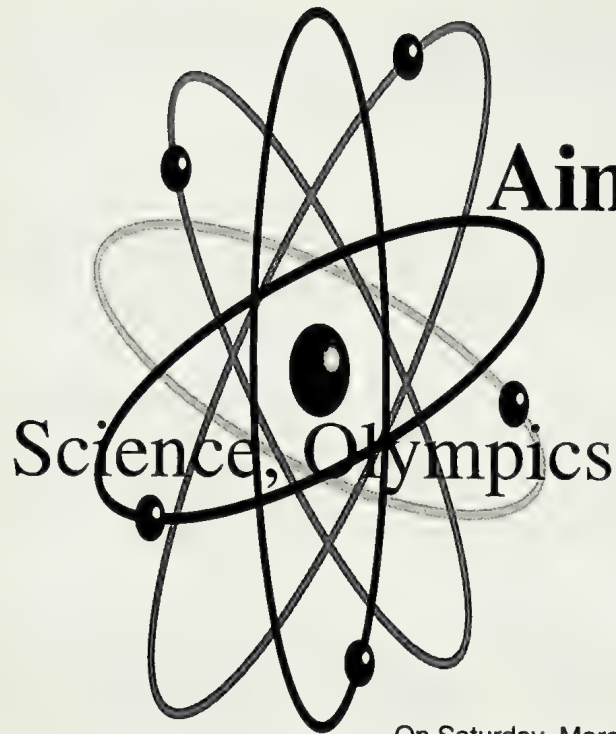

If anything, I want you to remember three things about your years spent at Ainlay:

- Remember the fun times - those crazy rotunda activities and the unforgettable T.V.T and Tri-Prov.
- Remember your friends - they're the ones who were there to listen, to make you smile, to make you laugh.
- Remember, that most of all, we did it together. We all suffered the countless hours of homework and all - night cram sessions! But together, we survived!

Don't let anyone or anything interfere with your dreams and your goals. Stay true to yourself and always "smile your best smile." Best of luck.

"We've walked the halls of learning, and served the proud tradition.
The flame of truth is burning,
to clarify our vision.
Look at how the future gleams,
bold against the sky.
As long as you will share my dreams,
we'll never say goodbye."

Ainlay heads to Olympics!

On Saturday, March 12th, two Harry Ainlay teams competed against a twenty three team field, in the annual Edmonton and area Science Olympics, at the Edmonton Convention center. One of our teams, "The Giant's Hubcaps" became Ainlay's first science olympic overall champions! Congratulations to team members, Julie Wang, Shakil Syed, Eric Finley and Peter Tai, who won medals in three of the four judged events. With two silvers and one bronze, they clinched the overall title. Final score: 110 points. Ainlay's other entry, "The Stopcocks," consisted of Vance Tsai, Michael Sykes, Jayan Nagendron, Nathaniel Day, and Anthony Roth (alternate), who were also to be commended as they placed a very respectable fourth in the "biology Mystery event" leaving them a final score of 75 points.

It is better to light a candle than curse the darkness

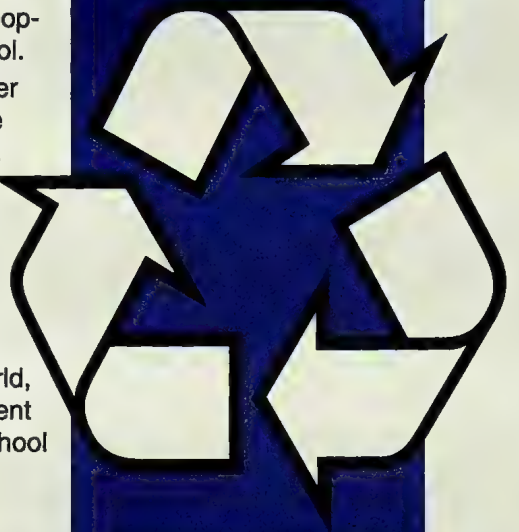

Amnesty International is a social justice club at Harry Ainlay. Our goal is to provide information and plan activities to raise awareness of global issues. This year the group, with staff sponsor Mrs. Newbold, have hosted several speakers, set up films, discussed international development and human rights cases-- current and historical. Amnesty members also represented Harry Ainlay at the Gandhi conference, Harry Ainlay's open house, and the Alberta Global Education Conference. There were also many major activities planned to bring about awareness regarding human rights. In November, there was a week-long petition campaign for an Amnesty prisoner of conscience in Nicaragua, which over 350 students and staff signed. There was also an information meeting for students and staff to learn more about the education cuts by the Alberta Government. For Human Rights Day (December 10) there was a candlelight vigil to remember the prisoners of conscience, and in March there was the ever popular and entertaining Benefit Concert. Finally in April there was a film festival, co-sponsored by the Environment Club, where we addressed global issues, and entertained a speaker from the National Film Board. Amnesty International Club provides a forum for discussion and debate, an awareness of global issues and an environment for networking and socializing. Dancing to the south African beat, eating an East Indian lunch, discussing world war two crimes, watching a foreign film, writing letters - all made 1993/1994 a "learning experience" for Amnesty participants.

Environment club cleans up

This year, the Environment club has installed an improved recycling program in our school by placing additional pop-can recycling bins in the hallways throughout the school.

Our members collect the pop-cans once a week, and the paper once a month. Through the bake-sale we held in October, we were able to donate $50 to the Canadian World Wildlife Fund. By inviting speakers to come to our school, showing videos during lunch hours, and co-sponsoring a film festival in April, the Environment Club provides the opportunities for students in our school to become aware of and to understand various environmental issues. We also write petition letters to various organizations, companies, and government agencies to voice our concerns about the environment problems around the world, and hope that we can make a difference. To make a permanent difference in Harry Ainlay, we have planned to beautify the school by planting flowers in front of the front entrance.

International club explores the world!

This is the second year of the International Club at Harry Ainlay. The purpose of the club is to promote awareness and appreciation of cultural diversity. Each year different cultures receive emphasis according to the club membership and interests. However, every student and culture is always welcome. The second Annual Ethnic Fashion Show was one of our big events this year as these pictures show.

Peer support: friends helping friends

Peer Support was involved in a number of interesting projects in 1993-94. We began with a goal-setting workshop at the Bennett Centre. We presented several guest speakers including a psychologist who works with eating disorders and a community youth worker who talked about violence in schools. We donated clothing to Queen Mary Park School, and toys to Santas Anonymous. We kept students up-to-date on topical issues by presenting the display window across from the library. We worked on being better listeners and communicators, and on several days, we offered free cookies to Harry Ainlay students who stopped by our office to say hello.

If you're walking down a hallway in the Northwest end of the school, and you hear a pinging noise, you've probably found the ping pong club. Ping pong, or table tennis, is actually very demanding. You need quick reflexes to play. Ping pong is really exciting to watch. With all the practice they are getting, members of the ping pong club will be experts in no time.

The Math Club provides students with an opportunity to enrich their high school mathematics education by preparing for and participating in various competitions over the course of the school year. The competitions are the Canadian National Math League, the Alberta High School Mathematics Competition, the American High School Mathematics Exam, and the Canadian Mathematics Competitions (Cayley, Fermat, Euclid).

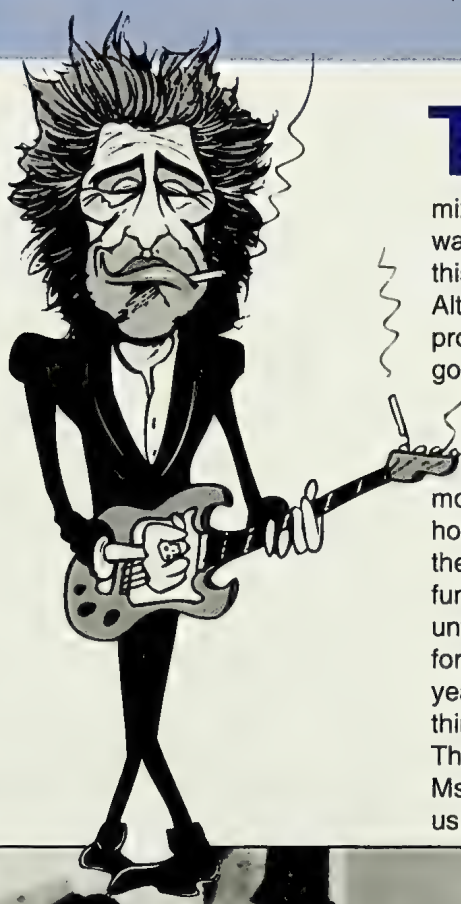

Pottery club throws great creations

The Harry Ainlay Art Department has a very active pottery club. The pottery club is open to all students, but is limited to 15 members per semester on a first-come basis. Students have an opportunity to hand-build, work on the pottery wheel, sculpt, raku and primitive fire. This year our president is Edwin Chu and our vice-president is Jay Delreke. Mr. Miller acts as the staff sponsor.

Radio club rocks through another year at Ainlay

The equipment finally came this year, so that we could enhance our radio club this year! We suited the club up with a brand new amplifier, mixer, 2 CD players, dual cassette players, 2-500 watt speakers. The club expanded their playing time this year, playing tunes in our very own rotunda. Although, in the beginning, the group faced security problems but the group stayed strong and eventually got on the air. Our members gave us a broad range of musical genres: rock, alternative, hip hop, rap, rave, foreign music, and even Christmas tunes! On a few occasions we played during the mornings, but we generally dominated the lunch hours. Our equipment was good enough so that even the office managed to "get down" and dance to the funky beat. We incorporated sound effects although unfortunately the "heavy breathing" series was not for public air waves. Generally, this was a superb year for Radio Club, we experimented with a few things, but at the same time played great music. Thanks to all our members, and a special thanks to Ms. Fisher, for putting up with our antics and seeing us through another special year.

The 1993/94 school term was a most exciting time for all those working on the Titan Tradition yearbook. Following the tradition of last year, we completed the entire layout using Macintosh computers. In addition, we also had an opportunity to use a scanner and a CD ROM to add art and illustrations to the book. Every noon, a group of dedicated students gathered in the communication technology room to exercise their graphic talents. The entire book would not be a reality without the dedication of our editor Andrea Aruanno. Her patience, knowledge, and ability to get other students working together made this book a reality. Mrs. Sands must be thanked for typing all the graduation quotes. Mrs. Manchakowsky and Mrs. Deptuck also helped proof all the grad quotes. Mrs. Baker was a great help organizing grad pictures and assuring that grad quotes were submitted. It is this kind of dedication that makes the Titan Tradition a great yearbook.

es high technology

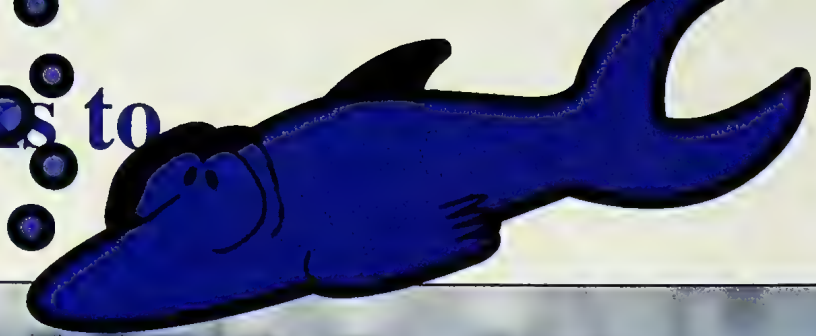

Editor's note: Well... It's been eventfull! I think that about sums up my year working on the yearbook. My journey began shortly after I attended the Herff Jones summer workshop from which I brought back many ideas and of course, wonderful memories. Although we had our shares of difficulties this year, with computer breakdowns and theft problems, our strong and faithfull, team managed to pull through and create an incredible yearbook.

Every person who contributed in any way to this year's book deserves our appreciation, especially a certain advisor who's help and enthusiasm is always much appreciated and valued, and whom without, my task would have been impossible. Thank you Mr. Povaschuk.

Scuba club sinks to new depths

The Harry Ainlay Scuba Club, under the sponsorship of Ms. Baker and Mr. Conquest, enjoyed a fourth year of success with several exciting activities and on-going fundraisers. Upon completing our classroom and pool sessions throughout February and March, the club toured the decompression chamber at CFB Griesbach, and experienced a dive in the submarine tank at W.E.M. The long weekend in May held further thrills for us as it was the date for our open water training in Jasper. Upon the completion of the open water component of the course, our members are now certified to dive anywhere in the world. Congratulations!! Jacques Cousteau would be proud. We hope to continue the course next year and organize a trip to the west coast in the spring of 1995 for all interested certified divers.

The climbing club is open to all students at Harry Ainlay. The club promotes athletics in a non-competitive environment. Our goal is to develop an awareness of outdoor activities and how to enjoy them with a high level of safety. The climbing club meets once a week during the lunch hour. During this time we have various activities which include rope management and safety techniques, video analysis of climbing, guest speakers, and climbing films. In addition, the club climbs at the UofA monthly.

Students and staff at Harry Ainlay are currently forming a Skills Canada club which will be affiliated with a provincial Skills Canada organization. Skills Canada Alberta is a non-profit organization represented by employers, labour groups, educators, government and students dedicated "to stimulate the development of leadership and technological excellence in Alberta youth." The school based club will be involved in leadership conferences, team building activities such as cardboard boat races, and career-related competitions. We will also have guest speaker from industry talking about career-related topics. In 1994, the competitions were held at N.A.I.T. The winners of the gold, silver, and bronze medals were eligible to enter the National Skills competition in Hamilton, Ontario.

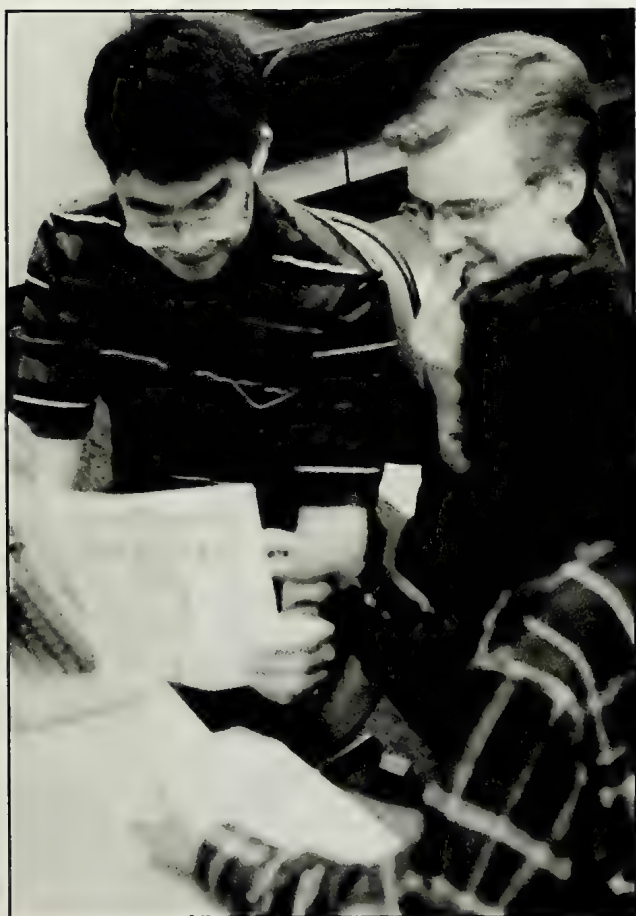

Special mention is in order to all teachers who spent hours preparing for the provincials at NAIT. Mr. Gruenberg, Ms. Jewell, Ms. Manchakowsky, Ms. Nikolai, Mr. Pettigrew, Ms. Sorenson and Ms. Elchuk helped make this activity a success. Thank you for your efforts.

Titanic newspaper faces new challenges

Procrastination seemed to be our policy this year, but it was worth the wait, right? The Titanic had another successful year in meeting its goals to educate, create a little controversy, line bird cages and Ainlay's hallways, and most of all entertain! The editorial staff of Chris Gilpin, Sheila Jain, Adam Wasserman, Eddy Takayanagi and Peter Boer, with teacher sponsors Ms. Carson and Mr. McNab and numerous writers put together some fascinating issues. From informative horrorscopes to the exploits of the nameless cowboy, the ever popular useful phrases, Crabby's advice and Chris-the Ripper, there was never a dull moment at the Titanic. Being an actual member of the Titanic with completely new people this year was quite educational too, as we went through writing problems, editing problems, computer problems and distributing problems (all contributing to the procrastination policy: don't do today what can be put off till it's too late), but I guess the best way to learn is a hands on aproach, and thank goodness we're given plenty of room to screw up! All in all it was an interesting year for the Titanic and good luck to next year's troop - hope it doesn't take as long as us to learn how to turn the computer on!

Hallo-Hi-Hello-Hola

I'm Christine Moedl and I am an exchange student from Germany. I live in a town between Frankfurt and Wiesbaden. My school is in Wiesbaden and around 1,600 students are attending my school. I want to say thank you for the great time I had at your school and that I'll never forget the time I had in Edmonton and at Harry Ainlay. It's really fun here and I especially enjoyed the week where we played musical chairs, soccer and stuff like that. In my German school the students won't participate in activities like that and I think they are missing lots of fun.

In Germany you mostly have classes with the same students but I like it the way it is here because you get to know a lot of different students. I like classes like calm, drama and foods because we don't have them in Germany. In addition, the P.E. classes here are more interesting, in Germany we always participate in track in field, gymnastics, volleyball and soccer. After five years it's getting boring and so I enjoyed my P.E. class very much. I also want to say thanks to the students who explained everything to me and in the beginning. When I had problems finding classes, they brought me to them. Thanks a lot.

I hope other exchange students enjoy their stay as much as I did. So now I only want to say, Goodbye, Tschub...

Thanks Harry Ainlay students and teachers!
 Christine Moedl

P.S. Allison- thank you for everything and I hope you enjoyed your stay at my house.

Jaimi- don't forget our song (Cecilia)
 Dorci- your Halloween party was great.

Teachers' questions con't:

Q: What phrases/expressions did you use in high school that have since become hackneyed or obsolete?

Mr. Shaw (Physics, Science 10, and IB Teacher): "Cool", "Far Out", "Nerd", "Right On"

Ms. Fischer (Biology, Science 10, and IB Teacher): "Sit in one of my classes and I'm sure that you will hear several every day. "You snooze, you lose" is one of my favorite sayings from university."

On September 25, twenty-three IB students embarked on a week long tour of Manhattan with Dr. Michner and Mrs Tuffs. Students walked the length and breadth of the island to visit the United Nations, the Metropolitan and Guggenheim Museums, the New York Stock Exchange, World Trade Towers, Battery Park, Greenwich Village, and numerous ethnic neighbourhoods. A highlight was the bus tour through Harlem where students visited an evangelical church which gives support to rehabilitated drug addicts. The ARC choir is internationally renowned for its gospel music. A "soul food" lunch at Sylvia's introduced students to southern cuisine. "Miss Saigon and "The Sisters Rosensweig" were the Broadway productions enjoyed by all. In addition, students enhanced their cultural experience in their free time by attending the Metropolitan and City Operas, additional Broadway shows and the Museum of Modern Art.

Band trip victorious

Once again, the Harry Ainlay music program has proven to be one of the top ranked programs in North America. At the recent Pacific Northwest Music Festival, held in Seattle Washington, four groups from Harry Ainlay participated.

Highly qualified adjudicators rated the groups on a international standard using the scale.

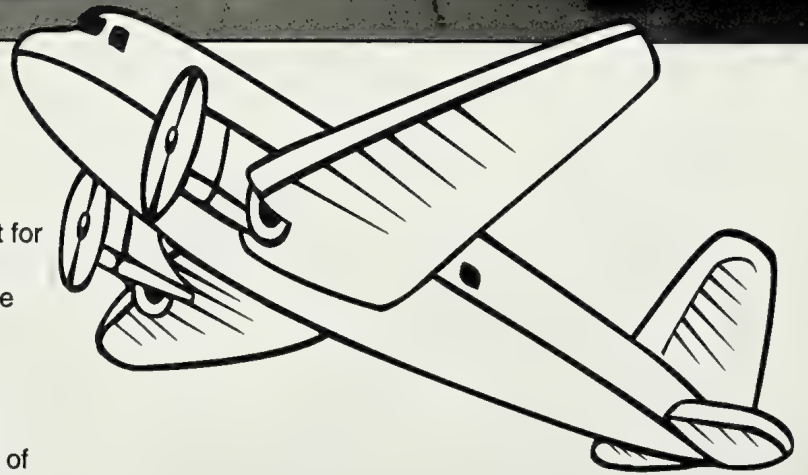

Superior	90-100
Excellent	80-90
Good	70-80

Participation 69 and below

Our 79 piece Concert Band placed 1st in their category with a mark of superior. "A" Stage Band placed 1st in its category with a mark of superior. Concert Choir placed 1st in its category with a mark of excellent. Jazz Choir placed 2nd in its category with a mark of superior. The 1st place award in the Jazz Choir category went to the San Diego School of Creative and Performing Arts, probably the best sounding jazz choir any of us have heard. Congratulations go to all of the students involved and a note of thanks to the parents who volunteered as chaperones for this tour; Bev Bouwmeester, Mary Ann Hignell, Jennifer Kouri, Linda Nicol, Ken Stanton, and Tom Duggleby.

Frankfurt a success!

The German 201 class went on an exchange to Frankfurt for Spring Break and the week preceding it. We lived with German families and attended classes with our exchange partners. For the second week, we toured the area around Frankfurt, until we were sure that if we saw one more castle, we would vomit. The tour included Dinkelsbuhl, a town that hasn't been rebuilt since the seventeenth century, and Nuremburg, Rothenburg, Heidelberg, and Wurzburg. Some of the highlights of the trip were the food (there's paprika on EVERYTHING!), a soccer game, getting lost in the pitch dark in Dinkelsbuhl, the excessive friendliness of German males, and the incredible bonding experience of being lost in a part of Frankfurt we didn't know. We were all impressed by the architecture, the insane drivers, and the different culture. We look forward to showing our exchange partners Canada when the exchange is completed in October.

Encounters With Canada is a one week experience where students from across Canada meet in Ottawa to learn about Canada and meet many Canadians from the age of 15 to 17. It is a time to learn about the similarities and differences of Canadians and to genuinely have fun learning and socializing. This program is subsidized by the Federal Government to enhance in students an understanding of Canada and the people who inhabit the country. The students from Harry Ainlay who attended were unanimous in the feeling that the week at the Terry Fox Centre was truly a wonderful experience.

The cosmetology department would like to thank everyone for their help in making the field trip to Los Angeles on January 26 - February 1 a reality.

The international hair show was world class. Stylists from all parts of the world were on stage introducing new techniques and styles for '94. Teams from Korea, Japan, Vidal Sasson, Irwin Rusk, and Toni & Guy were just a few of the salons and stylists represented.

To help fund the trip, students gave manicures, haircuts, and hair wraps. We were busy during our lunch hours and breaks selling popcorn, Texas donuts, almonds and raisins. The participation of students, staff and parents in the November garage sale was exceptional! Donations of time and merchandise was greatly appreciated. Without everyone's hard work, enthusiasm and dedication, this trip would not have materialized. A special thanks to Stogryn Sales Ltd. and Monarch Beauty Supply for their generous financial donations. One week prior to going, Los Angeles had a major earthquake. Of course we were concerned about whether or not to go, but after many phone calls we were reassured that the quake was north of our destination and we would not be affected. The trip was a great success, the weather cooperated, and everyone stayed healthy and safe.

What We Did:

Over spring break, 20 students from Harry Ainlay went on a 13-day trip to London and Paris. Sightseeing in and around London included visits to Buckingham Palace, Westminster Abbey, the Tower of London (and crown jewels), St. Paul's Cathedral, and Windsor Castle. We all saw the musical "Buddy" (the Buddy Holly story), and we had free time to see other shows, visit sights of particular interest to us and, of course, shop! Once in Paris, after an arduous crossing, we undertook "power-tour" visits of sights such as the Eiffel Tower, Napoleon's Tomb, the Champs Elysees, the Arc de Triomphe, Montemarte and Sacre-Coeur, the Louvre, and Notre Dame Cathedral. In the Paris region, we visited Chartres Cathedral and the Palace and Gardens of Versailles.

Bottom: Au revoir, Paris!

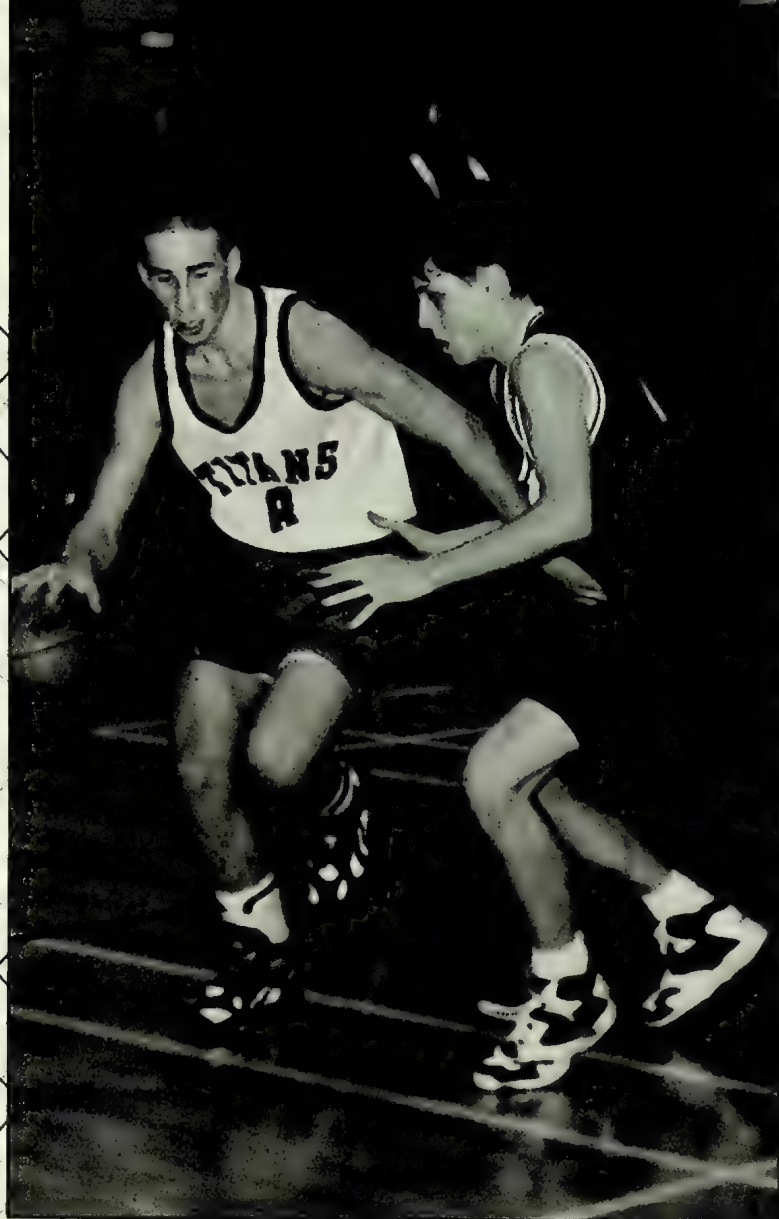

How We Felt:

London: What's on the left? Thanks. Shut up Elizabeth. The roof is peeing on the floors, beds, everywhere. Walk, museum; walk, castle; walk, church; SORE FEET. Flowers, leaves, green grass in March, we loved it! Wait up Mr. Millions! Olympic Speedwalker Champion 1994. Watch your pockets, Crusty might get you. Where are Leah and Jessica? Kara, save Julie! She's stuck in the bathroom again. Megan, keep your hips to yourself! Dover forever and New Zealand Boys. Bye-bye, hacky-sack! Poor Leighanne.

Paris: Stinky Pierre (pron. "pee-air") metros! NEVER take the stairs. 850 stairs - buns of steel, but big mistake. Cloudy, sunny, rain, hail, sun. Make up your mind weather! Now where are Mrs. Annis and Effy? Big Bernard, the confused. Smile, little Bernard, please? No way. Cheap wine. Ugh! Pinch go the Frenchmen. Watch your bums, girls. Line-ups: push, shove, push, shove, FIGHT BACK. Saira, your eyes... you're doing it! Our big question: What does Airplane smell like?

Thanks: We all want to thank Mr. Millions and Mrs. Annis for taking us on the trip. We loved it and had a lot of fun. A "Bon Voyage" was had by all. Thanks again!

Ainlay seniors....

The senior football season was a nice surprise to a lot of knowledgeable people. The Titans were not supposed to have a banner year. However, a great defence led by Ryan Hickey and Jeremy Roy at linebacker, Sasa Maksimovec and Jeff Hollinshead at defensive back and Bill Cooke along with Blaine Cook in the defensive line, the Titans allowed fewer points against them than any team in the league. Offensively, Dan Omand, the leagues leading passer connected with Barry Taitinger enough times to make other teams take notice. The running game of Corey Hennessey and Kofi Akowuah consistently proved effective. The Titans went into the city final with six wins, one loss and one tie with Jasper Place. The J.P. Rebels proved to be challenging, defeating Ainlay 34 to 21 in the final game. Great season, great players. Congratulations, Head Coach B.K. Anderson.

Senior Men's Volleyball

The senior boy's season was a very good one in 93'. It all started with a gold medal in the S.A.I.T. tournament in Calgary. A 7th place finish in the U of A tournament typified our "Peaks and Valley's" season but the team pulled together for an excellent performance in TVT- perhaps our best, and culminated with a gold medal win over Salisbury in the TVT Final.

Injuries plagued the team just prior to the play-offs. However, the team pulled together and defeated Percy Page in the Quarter-final and then Eastghen in the semi-final. Our Luck ran out against Scona in the city final where we lost 3-1 but our season continued as we hosted the 4-A provincials.

At provincials the team did very well in a very strong pool finishing the round-robin tied for 1st. We then won our quarter final over E.P. Scarlet but lost to Scona in the Semi. We were the only team to beat the eventual winner from Calgary-Winston Churchill. We finished the tournament 4th over all losing to Salisbury in the bronze medal match. All in all, a great showing for a young team with a lot of late season injuries. Prospects look good for next season!!

The 93' season was the season of learning, experiencing, and fighting mentally and physically.

The team played strong at the University of Alberta tournament placing third. We struggled in the middle of our season, which proved to be an essential building block for the character and "jelling of the team." After a disappointing loss in the league quarter final, the team pulled everything together for an excellent show of team play at the Salisbury tournament, where all top teams in the province were competing.

As the host team, many new players were able to experience Provincials and some had the good fortune to be there for the second time.

Congratulations to each Titan on the senior women's volleyball team. You worked hard, overcame many obstacles, and ultimately succeeded.

Sr. Men's Basketball

The 1993/94 Titans epitomized the tradition of basketball excellence at Harry Ainlay. Undeclared in the Edmonton Public League, the Titans successfully defended the Edmonton Public League Championship advancing to the Provincial Championship where they won their third 4A Provincial Championship in the last four years. Tournament championships included the Totem Hoop Classic, Raymond Sugar Bowl, Lord Beaverbrook Invitational, and our own Tri-Provincial Basketball Tournament. Throughout the season the Titans combined a consistent pressure defence with a balanced offensive game compiling a 39 win and 3 loss season.

The teams did not win any trophies this year, in spite of a good effort, but the curlers made great strides in learning the rudiments of the game and developing their deliveries. They represented Harry Ainlay very well. Following round robin competition, there is a championship round leading to provincial playoffs. Our school was represented in the junior competition by: Kendra Armbruster, Serene Cheung, Yoa Zheng, and Lauren Baker. The girls played well but were eliminated in the Edmonton Zone Bonspeil.

The 1994 soccer season for the junior men's team was one of mixed emotions. The team started their season with losses in four very close games. Then the joy of success as the team won or tied all of its remaining games. As a result, the outcome of the entire league was not decided until the last game of the season. But for the want of one goal, a team, that had defeated all of its opponents, was out of the play-offs.

More important than a championship was the fun of playing under coach Kevin Lockhart. He was aided by the gentle sweet urgings of staff sponsor, Mrs. Knudsen. The season ended positively as the team was graciously hosted by Al Sultan Restaurant (host Belal Karout) for pizza and Lebanese food.

Congratulations to the team for a great turn around season!

Senior men's soccer team

The senior men's team met Ross Shep again this year and defeated them at Henry Singer Sports Center to win the city championships. This came as no surprise because the Senior Titans were undefeated during the whole year of regular play. They had scored more goals against other teams than any other soccer team, and they had less goals scored against them than any other team in the league. For one game, they even played with one player short against Victoria Composite and still soundly defeated them. The only game they lost all year was the semi-final in the Golden Bear Invitational. Their outstanding achievement is a strong testimony to a great team effort and excellent coaching from Brian Austen and Glenn Gelhert, former Ainlay soccer players and three-year coaching veterans.

Women's soccer team - champs!

The senior women's soccer team ended the regular season with a 9-1 win-loss record, scoring 53 goals and having only 4 scored against them. Ariana Evans was nominated by the coach and was chosen as an all-star player for the South in a game played at NAIT on June 9, 1994. The South won 1-0 in a shoot-out. They easily defeated Ross Sheppard in the semi-finals and met McNally in the championship came on June 7, 1994, at the Henry Singer Sports Centre. The girls won the game 3-2. The coach, Murry Orvis, was very pleased with the team's play this year and is looking forward to another great team in 94-95 as only 4 of the 18 team members graduated.

Ainlay teachers leave competition eating their dust, at Journal games!

The Edmonton Public School's corporate relay team, which included our own Larry Quaiscer, Laurie Sorenson, Patrick Powell, and Sherry Heschuck (the Ainlay Alumni), destroyed the field to bring home the gold medal. Thus ending the Edmonton Police's domination of this event at the Journal Games. Congratulations to all, especially to Mr. Quaiscer and Ms. Sorenson for their fine performance.

Harry Ainlay's cross country team gets 3rd in cities!

This year the cross cuontry team finished third over all at the Edmonton Zone Championships with strong performances from Joanne Addison, Megan Schroder, Lance Doherty, and Charanpreet Singh-Dhami. All four represented Edmonton at the Provincials in Athabasca, on October 16, 1993. Congratulations to all team members , especially Sylvain Tierny, who is attending Harry Ainlay this year as an exchange student from Paris, France. Thanks for a very good year.

Outdoor Track

The outdoor track team had a most successful year in '94 with several team members achieving personal bests in their events and also qualifying for the provincial championships in Calgary. The team was approximately 30 athletes, 25 of which moved on from the divisionals to the city championships where we placed 2nd overall. 24 members were present at the city championships, 6 of which did not finish in the top 3 but they were in the top 6. There were 5 city champions including Mike Sykes (shot put), Orette Green (100m), Marianne Radmanovich (high jump), Jr. Boys 4*100 relay (Dan Akowuah, Jojo Obuobi, Leslie Raymond and Tom Zavediuk) and 3 event winner Suzanne Pitcher (discus, shot put and javelin). Including the above mentioned champions, eleven qualified for the provincials in Calgary. Marianne Radmanovich (high jump) and Orette Green (4*100 relay all star team) were provincial champions. Orette also won a bronze in the 100m with Suzanne Pitcher capturing 2 bronze medals in shot put a javelin and the Jr. boys a silver. Superb!

Once again we went on the 18 hour bus ride (one way) to Pocatello, Idaho to participate in simplot games held at Idaho State University in Feburary. Everyone performed well including the coach who won the coaches 200 m 40+ category. The indoor season ended in March at the Journal games with outstanding performances from Blair Carl and Orette Green who won silver and bronze medals in the 200 m respectively. The boys relay team also placed second.

It all started back in April when we dusted off our field hockey sticks in preparation for the Alberta Woman's Field Hockey Tournament. Our team was made up of girls who had limited field hockey experience but that soon changed. We entered the tournament with our flag held high and our sticks on the turf. Over all we had a 2-2-2 record beating Calgary and Ross Shepherd. The girls had the distinction of being the only team to score against the Saskatchewan Provincial team. Although we lost the game, we will get them next season!

Lasting Memories

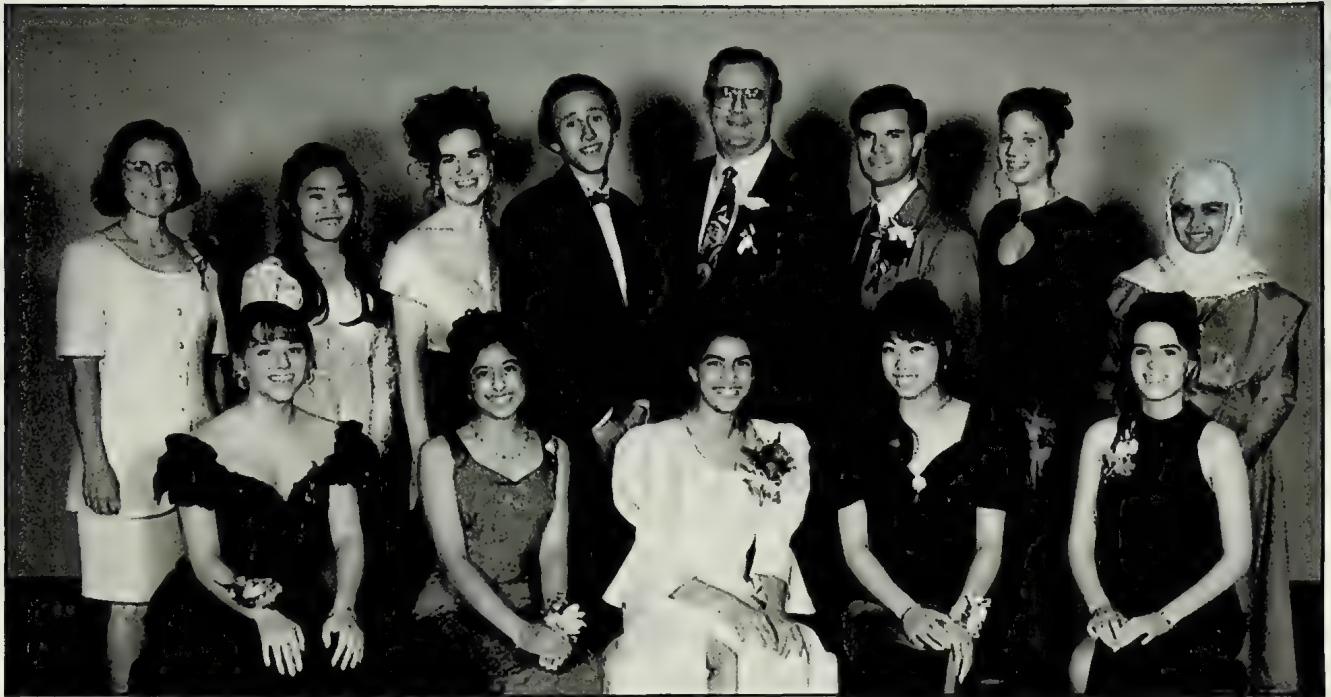

Grad

Over the past years we have all walked toward today together. We have matured, grown and dreamt. We have learnt many things about the world, about life, about others and about ourselves. Our friends have been like candles in the dark, our dreams stars in the sky. It has not always been an easy road, and the path ahead holds many trials, but the experience, knowledge and the strength we have gained will help each one of us reach our star in the sky. These ceremonies are not an ending but a bright, exciting beginning. The world is ours. On our journey over the years we have acquired the tools and knowledge to build castles in the sky and cities of gold. Our dreams fill the sky and light up the future, our future. I would like to congratulate every graduand of the class of 1994. May today be the beginning of a bright future in which the Titan Tradition "In Everything Excellence" Carries on forever.

Commencement'94

It was in junior high school that I determined I should be a teacher. Football, Field hockey, sailing, surfing and track were my passions, so naturally it was a physical education teacher that I wanted to be. At times, in the view of my high school headmaster, it appeared that too much time was allocated to my sports, and insufficient to my studies. I forget his words now - but I know he was advising me to seek a balance in my life. The need for this balance was no more apparent than on that occasion when I went to his office with my dilemma. It so happened that my senior school team was to play out of town the following Saturday, in a rugby tournament. That same day my town's hockey team, captained by my older brother, had surprisingly qualified to play in the season grand final. Being a contributing member of both teams - I had the problem of playing in two places at the one time, or letting one team down. I don't know what I expected him to do to solve my problem, and it was unfair of me to think that I could, or would, do so. He quite rightly told me that I had all the information needed to make the correct decision, told me to make it and to live with it. He did not allow me to put the monkey, my monkey, on his back. I left, not loving him but respecting him. I played for my school that Saturday. We lost, and so did the hockey team. After he had spoken to his 1000 students, at the next assembly, he walked up to me and quietly enquired about the hockey result. He nodded at my reply, his body language expressing regret. There were no further words, but as he moved on I knew he shared some of my frustration. I know now what he knew then. He knew the pain was ephemeral, this particular situation would fade away - but only to return again, in other guises, during the rest of my life - as it does to all of our lives. He knew that life is filled with difficult choices, and he taught that one must never delegate the responsibility for making choices that affect oneself to other people. Time passed, I won my Commonwealth scholarship, completed teacher education (or so I thought) and spent four years developing expertise in a Sydney high school before obtaining a posting back to my hometown high school. This was paradise! Four years of family, lots of friends, the finest of recreational opportunities, and a promising future. Then wanderlust intruded upon this rewarding life and my wife and I faced that question - to stay or to go! Choices! Again the dilemma of competing opportunities.

After gathering all available information to help us make an informed decision we opted for this far away place. There was excitement and anticipation at the leaving, but also regret. Not too much regret, mind you, for we would be away, centred in that place called Edmonton, for only five years. Twenty - one years, four children, and three schools later I came to work with you in Harry Ainlay. Here I found a school with the motto "In Omnibus Excelsior!", a school with a staff and a student body which truly sought, and continues to seek, excellence in all things. Here was a place and a people with remarkable aptitudes and attitudes, and so many wondrous facets that it was a challenge to absorb it all. The learning curve was at times so steep that I sometimes found myself sliding off. Fortunately, as I found early, there were many hands and minds willing to assist. In short time I was able to see how others, new to the Ainlay experience, could be helped in turn. The tremendous reservoir of staff and student talent, and your ability to draw the best from each other, can be no more evident than it is on this Commencement celebration. As the evening unfolds we will again be impressed. Even those inevitably irreverent class historians will later put their polished stamp upon the evening's proceedings. Until one has shared in the endeavours, it is difficult to comprehend how much time, love, and planning goes into these major celebrations. Until you have truly lived and worked within the team, you cannot appreciate the number of young people who work with teacher advisors to present high profile tournaments, music performances, plays, or conferences. This spirit of service to one another in the school, I believe, provides an intrinsic well being and security for you young people - coming from your knowledge that through your contribution and creativity you really have made a difference.

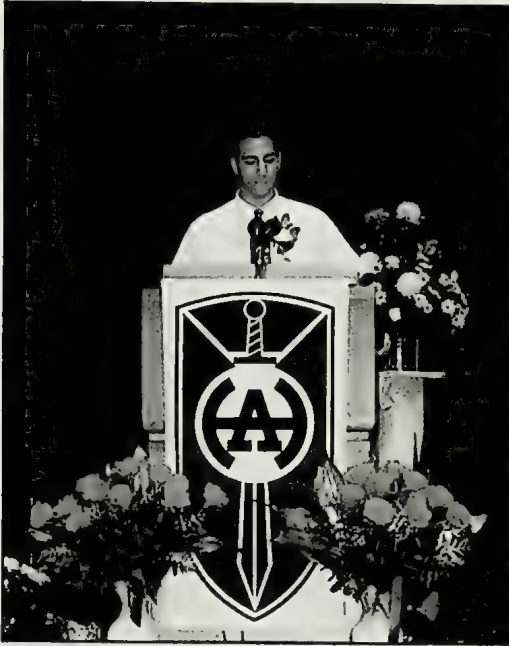

There was so much to be learned from you young people. There are some of you, from the leadership program, who shared a task with me three years ago. My role around that table was a minor one. I was simply to pose the questions - "What causes students to drop out of school? Is there anything we can do to reduce the incidence of "dropping out?" After 30 seconds it was apparent that these questions created discomfort and that our next hour could be unproductive. When the question was flipped around to become "What makes fellow students successful - in academics, athletics, the arts, social relationships?" You came back from your break-out groups to offer in order of priority:

- 1) Successful students are goal oriented, they know what they want to do, know what they want to be.
- 2) Successful students are good time managers.
- 3) Successful students have good support systems - parents, teachers, relatives, friends all of whom provide the stimulus for you to be the best you can be.

Prior to this particular afternoon, I had read some of the literature on success and effectiveness, produced by people like Peters, Bennis, Robbins and later, Covey. None have affected me as profoundly as your thoughts of that afternoon. Almost invariable since that time, when any of you come to me for any reason I asked you what you planned to do when you finished school. Your responses provided cues for any later exchanges. Reassuringly, most of you did and do have a goal, and a plan for accomplishing it. Despite our increasingly tougher times, I am certain that those of you who have a plan, and have been preparing yourselves appropriately, will continue to be successful. I find it very comforting that our future, and our pensions, will be in your hands. That most of you have completed your high school education in 3 years is commendable - and consistent with your theme song "We're here for a good time, Not for a long time." It is my understanding that your chosen song will, from September 1994 onwards be adopted by the Edmonton Public School Board as the welcoming theme from all incoming Grade 10 students. That some of you have pursued the most rigorous of academic programs, maintained excellence in your athletics, your music your drama, that you have contributed so many often anonymous hours in the service of your school or other organizations... and still maintained honors standing, causes us to stand back and applaud you. With your well balanced lives and achievements, you provide that inspiration, that synergy, which makes teachers love working with you. Four years with you at Ainlay have left indelible memories of the good times - as well as of the tough times a family as big as ours endures. There are those who wonder how teachers can have so much patience - wonder how we can work with students. On behalf of your teachers I say "How can we not work with you?...you who are so aptly described by Stephen Covey's mission statement. "Live, Love, Learn...and leave a Legacy!"

I thank you for inviting me to participate in this celebration with you. You will go on to a rewarding future. Good night to you all and God bless you.

Validictorian 94'

Validictorian - Michael Sykes.

Ladies and gentlemen, teaches, honored guests, fellow Titans. Good evening.

Tonight is a momentous occasion upon which we reach the end of a road which has carried us through each of our trials during the last twelve years of our lives. We have approached this graduation from our own directions, choosing distinct courses and making seperate decisions, and indeed no two among us have chosen the same route. Yet, in the end, each journey has reunited at Harry Ainlay. Though different in so many, we are joined under the common banner of our pride and our school.

Harry Ainlay has become more than a school. It is a center for sports and athletics, for drama, music and art, for the students' union, and for a myriad of clubs and organizations. More so, it is a place where we can meet and greet our friends, a place to laugh, a place to sigh, and a place to cheer. Harry Ainlay is a home, and the student body is its family.

At our school, important in such a variety of ways, this graduation class has never sat together in one room as it does this week. For once, we are one. Our thoughts, so different and so unique in nature do this night blend into a voice of unison. Yet even as we unite together at our graduation, even as we become closer to each other than ever before, we move on to greater things. Some of us will continue to be educated, some will persue athletic dreams, and countless others seek to complete goals apart from either of these, yet each of us will have reached this milestone in our life, our graduation.

Tonight and the days that follow mark the culmination of our efforts and achievements, for ourselves, for our friends, and for our school. Our lives have never been so full as they are now, as we progress into yet another phase - a phase of new beginnings and new hopes, a phase of new dreams and new inspirations. And as we do so, we take on new responsibilities, and new challanges for which we have been well prepared.

For as we move forward, we can remember what we have learnt at Ainlay, small bits of knowledge and intelligence gleaned not only from countless hours in windowless classrooms, but also in the rotundra and in the hallways, among friends and companions. We must take this and apply it for the betterment of our lives, and the realization of each of our purposes. It is my sincere hope, that though we do not take the same paths in life and in our persuits to come, that we do however move towards a common goal of improving the world in which we live. What better tribute to ourselves, to our parents, and to our school, than to be the best that we can possibly be. Fellow Titans, let us depart this room and depart our school with pride, and let us use this pride to succeed in whatever challenges and whatever obstacles may face us.

Thank You

Class Historian

Hey don't I know you from somewhere, Harry Ainlay High, 1994, you were in my class... teacher?... Mrs. Deptuck wow.

Well here we sit or stand as the case may be and before us lies a whole new world. But before we enter this new realm of sight, sound and dimension we must first know from where it is we came. Now I know some of you are sitting in the audience trying to impress the person beside by going "yeah well uh I came from my mom where did he come from." But I am not talking of so long ago, in fact only three short years ago we were entirely different people, mind you the word "people" is somewhat pushing it as we were more like post - pubescent egotistically driven self - righteous animals whose only method of communication was sporadic grunting and shifting of posture.

Um uh hello, huh cool. Yeah well uh next year I'm uh going to high school, yeah I'm leaving this hole. It's weird though man, like everyone's asking me if I'm scared and stuff. But I mean like of what I mean I was in grade nine and like I lived through that so like what's the big deal with high school I mean I heard I don't even have to go to classes if I don't want. Yeah I mean some people say it's like you know bigger but I mean you know kinda like uh well yeah like tat cool... yeah...

It truly was a great change we underwent those first few weeks in this new world. The bombardment of new faces and in some cases bodies was more than some of us could handle. It was also difficult to accept being the smaller people in the school again just after we had grown used to being king of the hill in Junior High.

Yeah well I mean it's cool I mean like I'm not scared of nothing I mean yeah it's big but I mean like I can find my classes (in like half an hour) but that's o.k. because if you caught a glimpse of how many babes go here.. yeah. I mean like wow, and there's like new ones in each class. Like there's a dance this Friday and I'm totally going to go cause uh I think that chick from my chem class is going to be there and uh... yeah.

All together grade ten was a year of many firsts, first time you could miss a class and the teacher wouldn't call home, first time math homework was actually easy because the math teacher was too dumb to know that the answers were all in the back of the book, the first and last year we would actually want to go to dances, also one of the only times cookies and doughnuts were only a quarter but then uh what's his name Constable uh... whatever arrived and the prices went up, coincidence I think not, and above all the first time in your post - pubescent body interacted with so many other bodies on a daily basis...wow.

Upon our return the next year to this fine learning institution, or should I simply say institution, little had changed. Aside from the fact that many possessed the power of the wheel as they had obtained their drivers license hence doubling the amount of road kill. But what we did not know was that this would be a great year for the school as a whole as we would not only get more press than the prime minister himself but also nearly burn to the ground and suffocate of chemical intoxication.

Class Historian: Mark VanderPluym

Excuse me sir I am from the Journal and I was wondering if I could ask you a few questions. I was told by a gentleman over there that you were recently in a fight is that true.
Yeah uh last week I was uh in a fight.
Now was this a racially oriented fight?
Uh no he just didn't like me.
And did he not like you because of your race?
No I'm pretty sure it had to do with what I said about his face.
And so that was then a racial comment?
No uh he's just ugly.
So basically what we have here then is a racial problem.
Um ah no uh I don't think so.
But essentially what you're saying is that there is an immense racial problem at Harry Ainlay High School.
Did I say that? I uh didn't mean that uh...
Exactly.
Exactly what?
There is a racial battle being fought.
Uh ah... Ok... yeah hey yeah that makes sense so basically what your saying that that white guy beat me up because I'm white...
Yeah. Exactly.

However our racial tension was not our only press as we were fortunate enough to nearly burn to the ground. These were perhaps the only days that the intercom actually brought good news to our ears... "There will be an announcement in five seconds... Take heed of the alarm, I repeat take heed of the alarm, for God's sake all you people run..."

We are here live at Harry Ainlay High School, just yesterday the school suffered a ravaging fire while today being intoxicated with deadly fumes. Excuse me do you go here?
Where?

To this school.
 Oh um uh yeah.
 We were wondering if you could tell us something about what you witnessed these past two days.
 Where?
 At the school.
 Oh yeah, well uh like yesterday there was a fire and today it smelled like someone... well it smelled.
 We were wondering if we could get some specifics for our viewers at home.
 You mean... Oh well then like uh yesterday there were flames and uh like burning stuff and uh smoke and uh yeah smoke ... smoke and flames ... I mean like people were burning and like on fire and uh I had to save some of them eh.
 Excuse me but we heard the flames were contained simply to the prep. room.
 Yeah well like there was still like burning things.
 So you witnessed these burning things first hand.
 Um uh kind of.
 So you must have been in the general vicinity of the prep room itself.
 Yeah I guess.
 So you were in an adjacent class.
 Um no I was at Southgate I had a test in chem so I had to skip ... I mean doctor's appointment I had a doctor's appointment.
 Yes well thank you.
 Oh but uh I was here today.
 Yes and what did you witness today?
 Um ah it smelled?
 Hmph ...

However not all our school catastrophes involved the entire school as in fact one single teacher in quest of fame and glory attempted a bungee jump without the cord at TVT, however he will remain anonymous. Teachers were not the only things that took dives this year, dances as well as many other student activities vanished from the face of the earth. Grade eleven was also the year of intellectual stimulation, yes I mean Calm. What other course could spend six hours teaching you how to use a mind map when you full well know you have no mind to map. It was also the course which formally introduced us to the condom, like I don't know what a condom is for, but oh I did learn how wonderfully it fits on a banana or a broomstick hence it I would ever want to protect such I would know the best course of action. But above all Calm taught me that "I'm good enough, I'm smart enough, and dog gon it people like me."

And finally here we are, our grade twelve year. A year like none other. Although there hasn't been any momentous events there have been a number of changes. First off, many of us are now eighteen and our thanks goes out to the one thousand eight hundred and seventy six licensed bars, restaurants and clubs that have served us well. Second and on a darker note the budget cuts. But I still don't understand how a few cuts will affect my education. I mean like uh you know I can uh ... you know ... oh yeah read and uh that stuff I do with uh you know whatchamacallet uh oh yeah write you know like I can do that stuff so like whats the big whoop. But perhaps the biggest change we experienced this year if not even in these past few days is a wake up call to the world around us. Where there once stood egotistical self-righteous individuals now stands an egotistical self righteous students with no idea as to where they are going. And if things couldn't be worse enough with the realization that next you may not be back here and the real word awaits, your parents are constantly nagging you to be all that you can be.

Now you listen here boy I didn't raise no quitter, its time for you to get serious about school and your life.
 Yeah well uh dad you know I've been practicing this uh quitting thing on my own for some time now and uh I think I'm getting the hang of it, so yo know.

Its not as though we need our parents to tell us that there is a real world outside the brick dungeon I mean we do go outdoors at times. And somewhere out there lies our future a future that is no more clear to us than our past.

And finally here we are at Harry Ainlay Commencement exercises sitting in our lovely blue robes fighting with our caps remembering the years and times that have passed. But what we must realize is that those times are passed and are great to give us that smile or that tear when need be but our whole lives stand before us.

Now take a look around you and look at the faces the expressions and the feelings and ask yourself what you see ... I'll tell you what I see ... I see a whole load of brights shining down on me such that I don't even know if you're out there or not, but trusting that you are I would hope to see smiles or even tears of joy as these have been great years. But remember the journey has only begun as before you lies many choices and many results. Above all have faith, faith in others, faith in yourselves and faith in the world around you. Never loose hope.

Grad...the best kind of memories

Memories are forever.

Memories are forever.

Memories are forever.

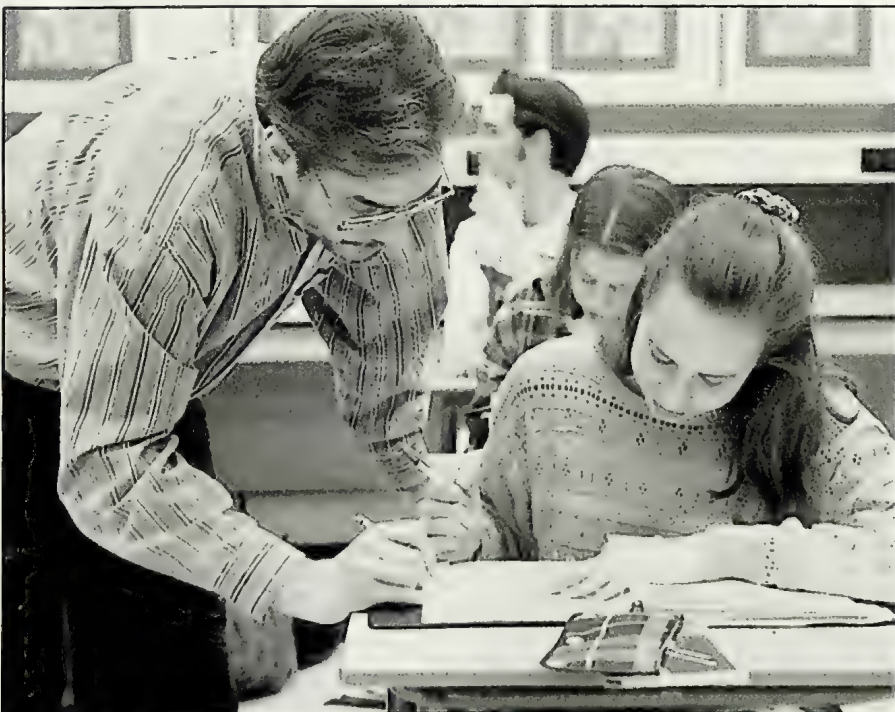

Memories are forever.

Memories are forever.

Memories are forever.

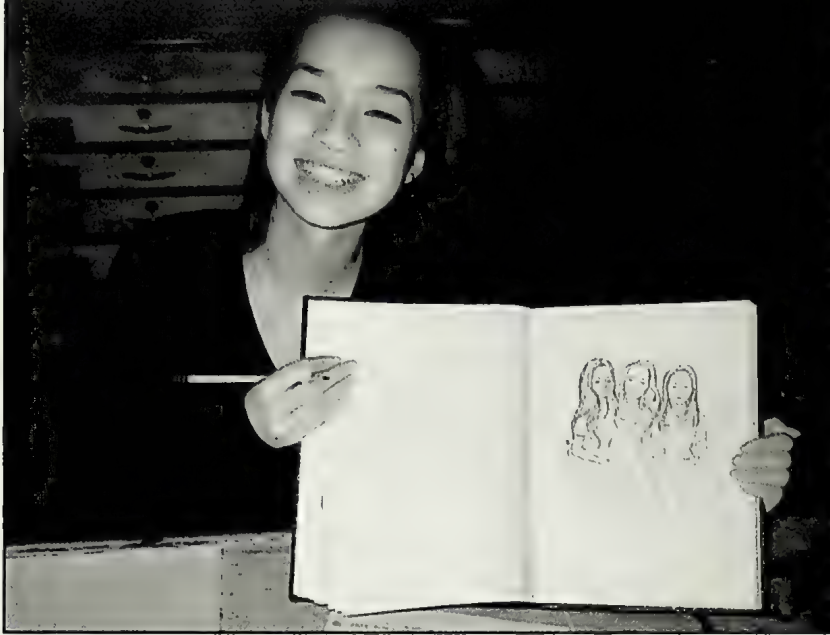

Q: What kind of talk (gossip) goes on in the faculty lounge?

Mr. Rusnell (physics / science student teacher): "A lottery is held based on which teacher will suffer the next nervous break-down."

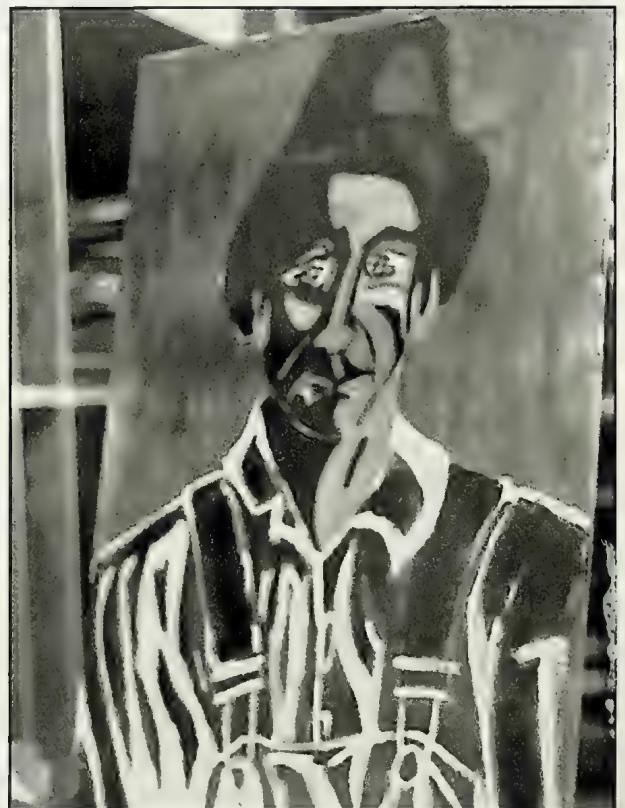

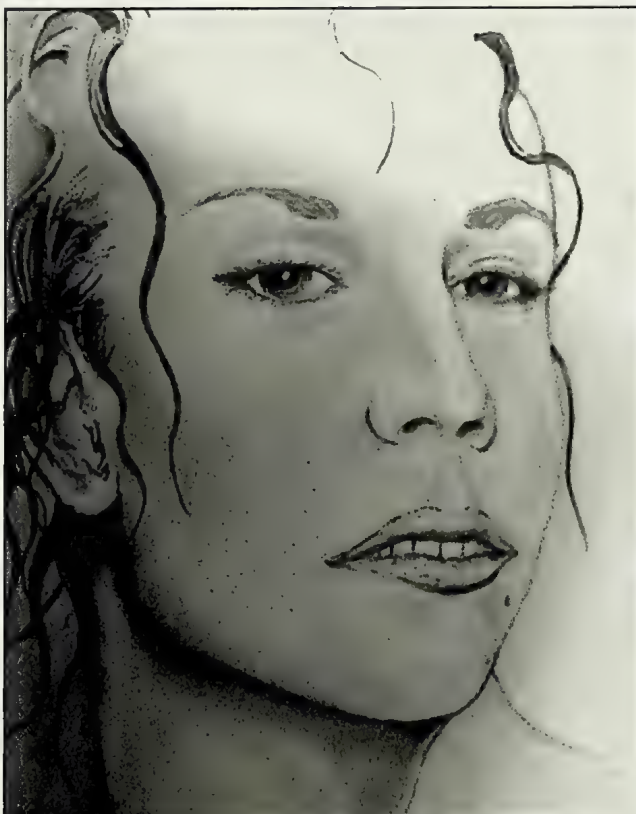

Mr. Wynn (biology / science teacher): "Surely you don't think teachers gossip. We discuss students, school problems, and families."

Dr. Gruenberg (drafting / building construction teacher): "My car won't start, can I have a lift? - I'll trade you this salami sandwich for the peanut butter sandwich. - Can your building construction class repair my thingamajig, to fit the whatchamacallit which goes onto the domahicki?"

Closing comments .. we were ...

Yes, we did it!

We hope that you all enjoy reading this year's edition of the Titan Tradition. Here I am sitting at a Macintosh LC 475 computer a 5:45 P.M. on Thursday, June 23, 1994. My last several weeks have been a frenzy of activity and deadlines. Over a period of one month about eighty pages got completed. Almost an impossible assignment but your book is ample evidence that the task is possible.

How can this be accomplished? Well, not without the help of countless others who dedicate a few hours now and again to aid our cause. Martin Coles, Arturo D'Elia and Jason Chan spent many hours in the darkroom converting negatives into memorabe photographs. Collin Penman again came to the rescue at Commencement and Graduation taking the pictures you have already enjoyed. Jen Mayo, Christy Groves, Lauren Baker and Wynne Leung took copy and made it look beautiful on the computer using desktop publishing software.

Mrs. Baker coordinated Wajo photographers with the needs of the yearbook. She gladly prooofed many pages as well. All staff sponsors had input providing photographs and stories and proofing final layouts. Mr. Anderson just surfaced this year and provided all group photos of athletic teams. A big, big help. Mrs. Sands had her typing classes key in all copy for the grad sayings. Again - another big job. Mrs. Manchakowsky and Mrs. Deptuck proofed all these grad sayings to make certain they were cool.

Of course, you may think that I forgot someone - our editor. Well I didn't. A few words about Andrea Aruanno. She was well deserving of her "Distinguished Service Award." Andrea practically lived in Room 140 throughout the year. Never a rattled disposition! Always calm, collected, organized, patient, dedicated, hard-working, congenial well, I could go on and on about this young lady.

Truly an exceptional and talented individual. Her ability to sit down at the computer and turn a page into a work of art with fantastic design still keeps me in awe. Further, she always kept a faithful following of workers who were only too eager to take on assigned tasks.

Andrea, without your presence, this book would not have come to pass. Thank you for your effort, your leadership and daily friendly disposition.

Some Titan Tradition firsts:

This year the entire Titan Tradition yearbook was completed within the school by desktop publishing using Macintosh computers in the Communication Technology program. Scanners and CD ROM's were used to import graphics and improve layout design. In addition, a real effort was made to include more type into each page. Stories add so much to a yearbook as time goes on.

You will also note a section of spot colour in the book - another first. This came about as a result of a Chris Ball winning a photo contest at a Herff Jones summer workshop.

Lastly, we introduced a few advertisement to offset yearbook costs and support community organizations.
